Extended.

A Just Appeal Made to the Railroad Companies.

of the Four Hundred Has Dared to Sell His $80 Box ?

Not long ago the wholesale dry-goods merchants of the city made a kick against the railroad companies for limiting the excursion lickets to the Centennial celebration to six days.

They were successful in obtaining an extension of time to ten days. This, however, does not satisfy the retail merchants, who claim that the limit to excursion tickets should be still further extended, and demand that it be fixed at twenty days, from April 22 to May 12, and that "excursion" rates should prevail

They make a strong argument in favor of their claim by showing that the "time limit" for tickets on other occasions of importance was much more generous, as, for instance, at the much more generous, as, for instance, at the last Presidential inauguration it was thirteen days, for the last Mardi Gras at New Orleans, fifteen days; at both the National Conventions last Summer, fifteen days, and the same for the bicyclists' excursion to Buffalo last Summer. On other occasions the limit has been as great as thirty days, and the demand for at least twenty days' time is made not only in the interest of the merchant themselves, but of the excursionists as well.

The appeal is signed by Simpson, Crawford & Simpson, R. H. Macy & Co., Edward Ridley a Sons, E. J. Denning & Co., James McCreery & Co., Lord & Taylor, Le Boutillier Brothers, H. O'Neill & Co., James A. Hearn & Son, Ehrich Brothers, John Daniell & Son, H. C. F. Koch & Co., Adams & Co. and Aitken, Son & Co.

This with other matters which are now coming pp for consideration gives the members of the Sub-Committee on Railroads and Transportation all that they can possibly attend to, and a busier set of men could not be found in town.

Most of the big railroad commanise, in addition to running special excursion trains, have promised to double their service, while the New Jersey Central is going to triple and the Pennsylvania road quadruple its service during the celebration.

Roads in the West and South are preparing to do the largest passenger traffic in their history. It is estimated that the additional travel to and from New York during the period of the Centennial will aggregate more than 1,000,000 persons. The greater part of this increase will be crowded into the two or three days preceding the 29th of April and those immediately following the third day's celebration.

THE MERCHANTS' APPEAL.

They Expose the Unfairness of Curtailing Centennial Excursion Limits.

We, the undersigned retail dry-goods merchants of the city of New York, respectfully invite your immediate co-operation to secure from the railroads a still further extension of the time limit of the excursion tickets to the Centen-nial celebration than that now conceded, viz.: brasks, arrived here this morning and are stop-ping at the Gilsey House. From April 27 to May 6 (ten days); to further reduce the excursion rate in the trunk line territory from three cents per mile for the round trip to the one-way fare, and to extend the privilege of reduced excursion tickets from all cities west of

The importance and character of the celebration—the time it will cover, the compulsory loss to the retail merchants in consequence, the conto the retail merchants in consequence, the consideration due to visitors from distant points, the almost certain experience of one or more days of bad weather—all demand that the "time" limit should extend from April 22 to May 12 (wenty days), and bona fide "excursion" rates should prevail from everywhere.

As a further illustration of the justice of this request may be cited the "time" and "rates" conceded by the railroads on the occasion of the events of minor importance in other cities, namely:

ONE MORE INVESTIGATION.

The Entertainment Committee has investing the gated the rumor that certain persons having boxes at the ball and banquet had disposed of them at much advanced prices, and aunounced this morning that every rumor had been found to be false.

The Committee holds the receipts of the persons to whom the tickets for boxes were issued, and it is the understanding that the boxes were no more transferable than the ball tickets.

The Committee would be very glad to have any boxes returned by the original purchasers, it says, for so many applications have come in recently that it could easily dispose of the whole Opera-House over again.

sequest may be cited the "time" and "rates" sonceded by the railroads on the occasion of the events of minor importance in other cities, namely:

1. The last Presidential inauguration at Wash ington—only a one-day celebration—tickets good for thirteen days (Feb. 25 to March 10, inclusive), at the one-way fare for the excursion, and are to the excursion, and from all points.

2. The last Mardi Gras festival at New Orieans, tickets good for fifteen days (March 10 to 13 inclusive), at half regular fares for the excursion, and from all points.

3. The National Conventions held last year at Chicago. Nt. Louis and Indianapolis, tickets good for fifteen days and sold at 88.50 for the round trip.

4. The bicyclists' excursion to Buffalo last Summer, tickets good for fifteen days and sold at 88.50 for the round trip, whereas the proposed Centennial rate of 3 cents per mile from Buffalo New York and return will cost $2.75, within the trunk line erraphole of the Grand Army; at one-way rates, and all with limits of from fifteen to hirty days.

In contrast to the above, both in "time limits and "rates," we point to the ruling of the Trunk Line Pool Association in its action discriminating against New York City by the short time and high rates announced for the Centennial celebration, which will go on record as one of the country.

So one day Cæsar went out. He did not return that afternoon, and Blanche thought she would examine the liming of her dress, which was lined with 2,500 francs.

She found them gone. Cæsar had examined the lining ahead of her. He also had her 8,000 francs. Then Mms. Blanche thought the time had come to kick, and she kicked.

Inspector lyrnes assisted her by sending out Detectives Heidelberg and Wolf to interview Cæsar Bachman. They found him in the Post-Office. The wedding is a romance of three cities, being the marriage of a New York man to a Chicago girl in San Francisco.

At the Seawanhaka and New York Yacht Clubs the news of Commodore Canfield's sudden and unexpected marriage was a great surprise to his bachelor friends. One of them ventured to suppose that it was a case of love at first sight.

Another amateur tar thought it must be a romantic thing to sail through the Golden Gate with a pretty Chicago girl, and didn't blame the Commodore for taking a new shipmate.

I had been troubled with Liver Complaint, Indigention and Palpitation of the Heart for five or six years, and could get nothing to do me any good until I tried B. B. B. I used thirteen bottles and now I am a sound man. I feel better than I ever did in my life. My digestion became all right, and I have no more trouble with my heart. I feel very grateful towards B. B. B., and feel like recommending it everywhere. Yours respectfully.

THIS SPINING.

I have been taking Burdock Blood Bitters and using it in my family this spring. For three years I have had the dyspepsia. I got a bottle or two of your Bitters, and they have cured me, and I never felt better in my life. It is a sure cure for dyspensia, and the best medicine I know of.
